Total Hours 36

1 Required for Master Reading Teacher
2 Required for Reading Specialist

Capstone Experience

All students will engage in a capstone experience within READ 5396 Literacy Research Seminar (3 sch).

Courses

READ 5310 Emergent Literacy
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)

Language acquisition and functions of language are explored for beginning literacy (K-3). Emphasis will be on classroom strategies for promoting language development and literacy growth for children through the integration of the language systems (reading, writing, speaking, listening). Of particular concern will be children’s oral language, letter knowledge, reading and writing vocabularies, concepts about print, and auditory discrimination.

READ 5314 College/Adult Literacy
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)

Theories and research on reading, writing, and study processes of college and adult students will be explored. Students will learn about program design, teaching/learning strategies, and assessment procedures appropriate for developmental college students and adult education.

READ 5321 Fundamentals of Elementary Reading instruction I
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)

This course includes a study of methods, materials, and strategies for teaching reading. It is designed to provide graduate students with professional knowledge concerning current research, philosophical perspectives, essential program components, and pedagogical strategies essential to the teaching of reading. Enrollment limited to graduate students seeking initial teacher certification.

READ 5322 Fundamentals of Elementary Reading instruction II
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)

This course includes a study of theoretical, research, and pedagogical aspects of the reading-writing connection for grades 4-8 students. There will also be an emphasis on content area reading and study skills as well as the writing process. Enrollment limited to graduate students seeking initial certification.

READ 5323 Fundamentals of Secondary Reading instruction
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)

This course is designed to provide graduate students with professional knowledge concerning current research, theory, essential program components, and pedagogical strategies in secondary literacy. Application of strategies to the reading, writing, and learning needs to adolescents will be emphasized. Areas of consideration will include classroom assessment of literacy study reading, and integrating trade books into the content classroom. Enrollment limited to graduate students seeking initial certification.
READ 5345 Stages and Standards for Reading Development
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
This course emphasizes effective reading practices that reflect state content and performance standards. Particular emphasis is placed on the interrelated components of reading and how these components apply in reading instruction. Equal emphasis is placed on primary, middle school, and high school students. This course is required for the Master Reading Teacher Certificate.

READ 5346 Trends and issues in Literacy
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
In this course students will examine the recent and past trends in literacy and the political, cultural, and research-based forces that influenced those trends. Attention will be given to how those trends have impacted and are impacting literacy instruction.

READ 5350 Multicultural Literacy
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
This is a graduate level course that focuses on issues pertaining to multicultural literacy and biliteracy. This course examines the educational issues confronting culturally and linguistically diverse students in our schools today. This course is required for the Master Reading Teacher Certificate.

READ 5352 Theoretical Models of Reading and Writing
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
This course is designed to provide teachers opportunities to expand their knowledge of the theoretical ways in which reading and writing processes are related and the practical ways in which these parallel processes can be incorporated into the literacy curriculum.

READ 5355 Teaching Literacy through Technology
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
In this course students explore research on the use of computers and related technology to (a) develop a more responsive literacy curriculum, and (b) determine literacy management and evaluation procedures in the technology environment.

READ 5357 Critical Literacy
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
Attention is on the theoretical and philosophical foundations of critical literacy. Students expand the lens through which literacy in schools may be viewed and develop a language of critique for analyzing literacy in social, political, and economic contexts.

READ 5369 Content Area Reading
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
In this course graduate students examine the theoretical and functional aspects of literacy across the curriculum. Emphasis is placed on (a) ways to promote and develop students’ abilities to learn through text-based instruction, (b) ways to promote the acquisition of study skills, and (c) ways to assist struggling readers in a classroom situation.

READ 5371 Diagnosis and Correction of Reading Problems
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
In this course students learn techniques for diagnosis and correction of reading problems as they work with children experiencing difficulty in learning to read.

READ 5372 Classroom Assessment and instruction
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
Course attention is on the selection and administration of appropriate reading assessments for all students. Particular focus is given to the role and use of reading assessment for planning, designing, and adjusting instruction to promote literacy learning for all learners. This course is required for the Master Reading Teacher Certificate.

READ 5381 Exploring the Literature of Children and Adolescents
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
This course will examine the historical, social, and pedagogical developments of the field of literature for children and adolescents.

READ 5390 Professional Seminar: Special Topics in Literacy
3 Semester Credit Hours
The course addresses issues relevant to literacy. It may be repeated when topics vary.

READ 5392 Psycho-sociolinguistics and Reading
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
This course explores the psychology of language as well as the social semiotics of language learning. Theories of cognition and sociolinguistics will be examined as they relate to literacy development in regular and specialized learning contexts.

READ 5393 Literacy Curriculum and Supervision
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
Components of comprehensive reading programs in schools and districts will be examined, and strategies for literacy curriculum design and staff development will be explored. Emphasis will be on the literacy professional as a change agent and promoter of educational innovation.

READ 5395 Leadership and Literacy
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
This course emphasizes how to disseminate reading research to critical stakeholders involved in education. Techniques include, but are not limited to, coaching, collaborating, mentoring, and consulting with colleagues.

READ 5396 Literacy Research Seminar
3 Semester Credit Hours
This seminar is the culminating course in the graduate reading concentration. Current trends in literacy research, the critical examination of selected research studies, and the self-evaluation of professional needs and interests are included. This course calls for students to integrate information from previous classes with new information presented in this class in order to develop, conduct, and evaluate action-based research.

READ 5398 Directed individual Study
1-6 Semester Credit Hours
May be repeated when topics vary.

READ 5697 Reading Practicum
6 Semester Credit Hours (6 Lecture Hours)
Students will have an opportunity to apply their knowledge of reading instruction by teaching children and youth with reading difficulties. They will gain knowledge of: the organization and management of the reading program, as well as early intervention strategies and programs. Literacy leaders and their contributions to the knowledge base for reading and writing instruction will be reviewed. Course requirements include the development of case studies on the children and youth being tutored. Some emphasis will also be placed on the many roles of the reading professional.

READ 6396  Literacy Research Seminar
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
In this doctoral-level course in reading/literacy research, attention goes to historical and current trends in literacy research, the critical examination of selected reading research studies, and self analysis of personal and professional interests and needs. This course calls for students to integrate information from previous graduate classes with information presented in this class to analyze and implement reading/literacy research. Doctoral students enrolled in this course will be expected to complete all assignments designated for the master's level students and also complete additional specified assignments. Students who took this course as READ 5396 may not take the course as READ 6396.

READ 6398  Advanced Reading Supervision Practicum
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
In this course, reading specialists will be provided with an opportunity to apply their supervisory skills in a practical situation. Students will observe and evaluate inservice teachers, as well as make suggestions for improvement. Course requirements include completion of teacher evaluation summaries; development of observation forms; description of a district-wide reading program; and planning and implementation of an inservice workshop.

READ 6399  Advanced Literacy Research Seminar
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
This course is designed to familiarize doctoral students with (a) historical avenues of literacy research, (b) current trends in literacy research, and (c) procedures for conducting personal research leading to a doctoral dissertation in some aspect of literacy education.
Prerequisite: EDLD 6333.
