EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION (EC-3), BS

Program Details
The Bachelor of Science in Early Childhood Education EC-3 degree will prepare you to be a highly-qualified early childhood education teacher of young children in a variety of settings. Students pursuing this proposed degree will have the option to choose from two tracks. One allows degree candidates to take the Texas Examination of Educator Standards for grades pre-kindergarten through third grade and enables them to teach in public schools throughout Texas. The other track would support educators in their work in educational settings outside of the public school environment. This program combines coursework and carefully supervised field work designed to prepare you to meet pre-kindergarten through grade three Texas Education Agency certification standards or to work with young children who are not enrolled in the public-school system.

The Early Childhood Education Degree requires a minimum of 121-123 credits:

First-Year Seminars or Electives
Full-time, first time in college students are required to take the first-year seminars.

• UNIV 1101 University Seminar I (1 sch)
• UNIV 1102 University Seminar II (1 sch)

Student Learning Outcomes
Students will:

• demonstrate knowledge of child development, including the concept of the Whole Child (social, emotional, cognitive, and physical domains) and various influences on the instructional setting
• understand how to identify and implement culturally responsive, developmentally appropriate practices to effectively teach and engage young children across content areas
• Understand the types, selection, and uses of developmentally appropriate assessments and assessment practices to identify a given student’s strengths and needs and design developmentally appropriate instruction

Students will have the opportunity to engage in math, observe and reflect upon children’s mathematical thinking and solution strategies, identify and integrate children’s lived experiences and background knowledge into mathematics lessons, and use assessments to build on children’s-understanding and extend their learning. This course is designed to have-students experience and learn mathematics through a process of inquiry which differs in significant ways from traditional mathematics classes. Students will deepen their own mathematical knowledge while furthering their understanding of effective mathematics instruction. Students will develop an understanding of the math content in accordance with State and National Standards and contemporary educational research findings in early childhood mathematics teaching and learning.-Prerequisite: ECED 1320.-Child Development-3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)-Provides the student with an overview of the physical, social, emotional, and psychological development of children from infancy through early childhood.-Science with Young Learners-3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)-This course is designed to provide preservice teachers with a global understanding of teaching science in the EC-3rd grade school setting. This aim requires preservice teachers to learn about the nature of science, engage in science investigations, and construct an understanding of natural phenomena. At the same time, students will explore how to facilitate this knowledge construction with young children through the use of inquiry. Students will become knowledgeable of the state-adopted proficiencies for teachers (science emphasis), state standards for science (science TEKS), as well as, the Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS), the national science education standards.-Prerequisite: ECED 1320.-Emergent Writing-3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)-This course aims to prepare undergraduate teacher candidates to support young children’s emergent literacy, with an emphasis on oral language and writing. The development of children’s writing skills, from scribbling and drawing to conventional spelling is explored. Current research, educational practice, and instructional materials will be analyzed, with an emphasis on how to integrate child-initiated writing into multiple areas of the curriculum.-Prerequisite: ECED 1320.-Assessment in Early Childhood-3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)-This course addresses the various ways to assess the development and learning of children from EC-3rd grade. The ways in which teachers select, administer, and interpret formal, informal, and alternative assessments will be explored. The principles of designing and using assessment and evaluation techniques that are culturally fair, intellectually sound, reliable, dependable, and content-valid for young children will be investigated. Finally, various ways to systematically observe and document students’ development and learning will be reviewed.-Prerequisite: ECED 1320.
ECED 3380 Developmentally Appropriate Practice in Early Childhood Education
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
An intensive study of developmentally appropriate practice in early childhood education. Students will learn the components of lesson plans and create several lesson plans. Emphasis will be placed on selecting, defining, developing strategies and techniques, and assessing practices which support developmentally appropriate practices.
Prerequisite: ECED 3324.

ECED 4310 Socialization of the Young Child
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
An intensive study of the social development, the agents of socialization, and the socialization process in early childhood.
Prerequisite: ECED 2310 or 3324.

ECED 4312 Inquiry-based Learning in the Early Childhood Classroom
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
This course is a study of theory into practice through the creation of an emergent curriculum that integrates content in the areas of math, science, and technology alongside learners’ interests. Students will be expected to have a firm foundation in math and science content, with the aim of this course to build on that knowledge to develop hands-on, concrete, and relevant experiences to help young children develop an understanding of the physical world and to develop skills of inquiry. Technology serves as both a subject of instruction as well as an instructional tool to support learning and communication. This course also includes a discussion of the differentiation of instruction, learner characteristics, the learning environment, curriculum, and standards.
Prerequisite: ECED 1320.

ECED 4320 The Young Child, Family and Community Resources
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
A study of current family structures, their relationship to the young child, society, and the community. Emphasis will be placed on an inclusive model which addresses the needs of the global community as it relates to the young child.
Prerequisite: ECED 2310 or 3324.

ECED 4321 Infant and Toddler Development
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
The course will explore the specific development and growth of infants and toddlers. In addition, appropriate programs and environments which support infant and toddlers’ physical, emotional, social, and cognitive growth and development will be explored.

ECED 4322 Teaching Young Children Through the Social Studies
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
This course will acquaint students with techniques of incorporating the social studies concepts of geography, government and economics through a cultural lens. This perspective will prepare students to teach young children in culturally diverse communities

ECED 4325 Current Issues and Trends in Early Childhood Education
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
The course will focus on the study and discussion of topics related to current issues and trends that affect early childhood education programs and policies. The course will assist students to become advocates for young children

ECED 4330 Health, Nutrition, and Locomotor Concepts for the Young Child
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
The relationship between health, nutrition, and locomotor development in the young child is investigated.

ECED 4332 Social-Emotional Development and Child Guidance
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
This course focuses on conflict resolution, problem-solving, the development of supportive interactions, and children’s initiation and self-help skills. Students will build knowledge about underlying emotional skill development as well as knowledge of the influence of stress and trauma, protective factors, resilience, and supportive relationships on the cognitive and emotional development of young children. In addition, students will analyze children’s social skills to develop supportive interactions and use developmentally appropriate strategies to effectively manage instructional activities for young children. Finally, students will utilize knowledge of children’s learning and social/emotional development in order to adapt the environment to meet students’ individual and group needs.
Prerequisite: ECED 1320.

ECED 4334 Internship I in Early Childhood Education
3 Semester Credit Hours
This course is the first of a sequential series of field-based experiences. Students will work in collaboration with staff and teachers where they are placed to plan and implement developmentally appropriate lesson plans which shall be evaluated in cooperation with the teacher and supervisor. Faculty approval of the early childhood program for internship is required.

ECED 4335 Internship II in Early Childhood Education
3 Semester Credit Hours
This course is the last of a sequential series of field-based experiences designed to ensure that the ECED degree candidate develops and demonstrates the ability to apply the knowledge and skills learned in content and professional courses. Faculty approval of the early childhood program for internship is required.

ECED 4340 Communication and Aesthetics
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
A study of language development; early literacy, language arts, and aesthetics. Students will develop an integrated thematic unit plan. Strategies and curriculum materials that are developmentally appropriate for young children will be emphasized to support the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS).

ECED 4345 EC-6 Assessment and Evaluation
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
A study of assessment for children EC-6 utilizing both formal and informal instruments will be addressed. A knowledge of choosing, administering, and reporting developmental assessment will be explored with an emphasis on assessment tools that can be used by teachers of young children. Principles of designing and using assessment and evaluation techniques that are culturally fair, intellectually sound, reliable, and content-valid for young children. Differentiation among criterion-referenced, norm-referenced, individual, informal, authentic, and group assessments will be emphasized. Students will review strategies for using assessment data to design instruction, and match assessment techniques to individual children and learning situations

ECED 4350 EC-6 Social Studies Curriculum
3 Semester Credit Hours (3 Lecture Hours)
This course will expose students to skills and concepts taught in the Social Studies curriculum in the elementary school. Developmentally appropriate strategies, concepts, and curricular materials used in teaching the Social Studies will be emphasized.
Prerequisite: ECED 3324.
